

Effective Communication Strategies Using Personality Dimensions® or the DISC® Assessment

AGENDA

The fast paced, demanding and ever-changing workplace of the law office poses ongoing challenges to legal professionals in their ability to effectively communicate. Be it navigating oneself in the courtroom, having difficult conversations at the office, or experiencing the interpersonal complexities of teamwork, clear and effective communication is a key ingredient to optimal productivity. It is also an essential component to a successful law practice. Miscommunication may ultimately lead to costly errors, interpersonal conflict and a decreased ability to deliver quality legal services.

This seminar is intended for formal mentor/mentee pairs or lawyers who informally mentor others. In this highly interactive session, participants are guided through a series of exercises and discussions that focus on understanding other's perspectives, strengths, and communication styles.

Participants will:

- Complete a personalized self-assessment and receive a personal and confidential report prior to the session.
- Gain an understanding of four distinct personality styles and preferred methods of communication.
- Learn specific communication strategies and discuss potential communication barriers.
- Discuss and problem solve strategies to manage challenging situations
